1. Introduction

The Transport Infrastructure Product Evaluation Scheme (TIPES) is administered by ARRB. Applications for registration of products under TIPES must be made on the application form in Attachment A.

Applications are subject to the terms and conditions set out in this Guide and in the attached terms. ARRB reserves the right to amend the terms from time to time as it sees fit.

Intending applicants should read the terms to familiarise themselves with the requirements and procedures before making an application.

2. Background of the scheme

TIPES is designed for the technical evaluation of Products that fall outside the scope of established standards and specifications. In its current form, TIPES is intended for the assessment of road pavement construction Products. Products in the context of this Guide may refer to innovative technologies, products, equipment and processes.

The scheme is administered by ARRB on a full cost recovery basis through the fees paid by applicants. At this stage, the scheme is a mechanism by which applicants can obtain an independent evaluation and an expert technical opinion of new Products. This information can be provided to various state road agencies with the potential to reduce the need for separate evaluations of an Applicant's Product for multiple agencies.

The Queensland Department of Transport and Main Roads commenced using TIPES in 2013-14, with the first Products already being evaluated. The pilot for a national scheme being administered by ARRB commenced in October 2013.

TIPES is a national scheme endorsed by all Australian State and Territory road agencies as well as IPWEA (Qld) and the Queensland Local Roads Alliance.

The applicant acknowledges and agrees that ARRB does not make any representation that endorsement of TIPES by any state road authority or body, or by any other government or semi-government authority or by any other entity, or that evaluation and/or certification under TIPES of a Product will gain acceptance of that Product for any particular authority or body or any particular market or purchaser.

Technical Assessment: The Technical Assessment of a Product by a panel of Independent Technical Experts.

Technical Opinion: A Technical Opinion by a panel of Independent Technical Experts in relation to a Product that is issued by ARRB.

4. General

ARRB shall decide if the Technical Opinion for a product will be registered after consideration of recommendations made by the Product Evaluation Panel and Independent Technical Experts.

Until the Technical Opinion for a Product is placed on the Register the Applicant must not claim or imply that the Product is a Registered Product.

The Applicant may only state that a Product is a Registered Product if the Applicant also states, at the same time, the registration certificate number of the Registered Product.

The Applicant may make copies of the complete certificate of registration including all its terms and conditions. Misleading use of the certificate or reference to a Registered Product may result in suspension of the registration.

The Applicant must advise ARRB within 14 days of the occurrence of any material change to a Registered Product including, but not limited to, material supply changed, quality control method altered, technical data altered or ownership of the Registered Product transferred. Upon such advice, ARRB shall determine if, and to what extent, review of the Registration is necessary. The cost of such a review shall be borne by the Applicant.

If a Product may only be installed under licence granted by the owner of the Product, or by any person authorised by the owner to licence the Product, the Application must include a list of licensees. The Applicant must inform ARRB in writing of all changes to this list within 30 days of a change occurring.

5. Technical assessment process

There are three separate phases in the assessment process, with a hold point at the end of each phase. Work on each successive stage shall not proceed beyond the hold point without written confirmation from the Product Evaluation Panel and the Applicant.

During the assessment should there be the need to modify the system defined by the Applicant (for example as a result of failure of the system to meet the requirements) the content of the assessment and additional work required shall be reconsidered by ARRB.

PHASE 1: APPLICATION

The Application is submitted using the form in Attachment A with payment of the Application Fee.

The Application and supporting documentation is reviewed and assessed by ARRB.

The Applicant is advised if the Application and supporting documentation is adequate and the application can progress to Phase II.

PHASE 2: INITIAL ASSESSMENT

The Applicant pays the Initial Assessment Fee listed in Attachment B.

ARRB appoints a Product Evaluation Panel. The Product Evaluation Panel members assess the application and documentation provided by the Applicant and specify any additional testing required (laboratory or otherwise). The Applicant is informed of any additional testing requirements.

The Applicant supplies the test results for the required additional tests to the Product Evaluation Panel.

Based on the information provided by the Applicant, the Product Evaluation Panel provides a written opinion, as to whether the Product has sufficient potential to be considered by road agencies for inclusion in a Field Performance Trial. The opinion of the Product Evaluation Panel will include a description of the requirements for the Field Performance Trial.

The Applicant is to negotiate a field trial with a road authority and inform the Product Evaluation Panel of a proposed suitable trial. The Product Evaluation Panel determines if the proposed trial site is suitable to commence Phase III.

PHASE 3: FIELD PERFORMANCE TRIAL

The Product Evaluation Panel develops an evaluation plan for the Field Performance Trial and assesses the amount of the Field Performance Trial Assessment Fee having regard to the specific evaluation plan.

The Applicant pays the Field Performance Trial Assessment Fee. The amount of the fee is Product specific and will depend on the particulars of the trial.

An indicative cost is provided in the Schedule of Fees in Attachment B.

The Product Evaluation Panel observes the use/installation of the Product at the Field Performance Trial.

The Product Evaluation Team monitors the Field Performance Trial as required over its agreed duration, where possible long enough to understand a product life-cycle.

At the end of the Field Performance Trial, the Product Evaluation Team assesses the performance of the Product based on the outcomes and all data gathered during the evaluation process.

A Technical Opinion on the performance of the Product is prepared. The Technical Opinion is registered and a certificate of registration is issued to the Applicant

 - 2. Level B Quality Assurance – where the Applicant presents documented and other evidence to the satisfaction of ARRB that an acceptable unaudited quality system or procedure was and is in place during the manufacture and installation of the Product. As a guideline, such a Quality Assurance System should meet the requirements for ISO 9000 series certification, or equivalent scheme.

The application and supporting documentation is to be submitted in the form of an electronic copy to tipes@arrb.com.au. It is also requested that the Applicant supply five (5) hard copies of the application, containing all the information listed above as well as any applicable supporting documentation. 7. Payment of fees

The Applicant shall pay the applicable fees plus GST to ARRB for each phase in the technical assessment process. ARRB will issue a tax invoice for each fee payable.

All payments are to be made into the nominated ARRB bank account listed in the Schedule of Fees in Attachment B or as subsequently advised by ARRB.

The Application Fee is non-refundable. The nominated Application Fee may be increased by an amount that ARRB considers reasonable having regard to the additional administrative costs where all the required information is not submitted with the Application.

8. Review of application

ARRB shall promptly acknowledge receipt of an Application and payment of the Application Fee.

Within 28 days of the receipt date, ARRB shall:

- a. review the Application and supporting documentation
- b. where there is any deficiency in the Application or in the required documentation, ARRB will advise the applicant of the deficiency
- c. where applicable, specify any additional fee to cover increased administrative costs arising from such deficiency
- d. identify suitably qualified and experienced independent technical experts to comprise the Product Evaluation Panel
- e. advise the Applicant that ARRB is satisfied that the Application can proceed to the Initial Assessment Phase
- f. advise the Applicant of the composition of the Product Evaluation Panel and issue an invoice for the Initial Assessment Fee.

The Product Evaluation Panel shall comprise of persons having expert technical training, experience and knowledge in the relevant fields as determined by ARRB. ARRB will attempt to identify one qualified person representing potential users of the Product; depending on availability, this will typically be a representative of a state road agency, and two other expert persons from academic institutions, or from ARRB.

The Product Evaluation Team may, in appropriate circumstances, co-opt other experts as necessary and utilise resources of a Registered Testing Authority. The number and composition of the Product Evaluation Panel and the identity of the team leader, are to be determined by ARRB acting reasonably.

ARRB will establish the qualifications and independence of nominated experts prior to their appointment. Each member of the Product Evaluation Team must sign the declaration form in Attachment C prior to commencing the evaluation of the Product.

9. Initial assessment

The Applicant shall pay the Initial Assessment Fee in the Schedule of Fees in Attachment B.

ARRB shall assess the Applicant's production processes, material controls, records etc. to ensure that a consistent product is offered for sale. Where applicable, it is required that the Applicant's quality assurance system covers the manufacturing process as well as the installation process. The Applicant shall, where applicable, identify the approved manufacturer(s) as well as the approved installer(s) and ensure compliance with the quality system.

The scope of the initial assessment is limited to evaluation of the information submitted by the Applicant and laboratory evaluation. The aim of the initial assessment is to evaluate, and advise upon, whether the Product has sufficient potential to be recommended for further assessment in a Field Performance Trial. The technical evaluation plan for the product will be submitted to nominated representatives of participating state road agencies for comment.

As a guide, the evaluation should be completed within three to six months of the commissioning date, but this is dependent on the Applicant promptly submitting additional test results where required.

If desired, the Applicant may make a short presentation to the Product Evaluation Panel about the Product.

If any additional testing is considered necessary for the initial assessment, an evaluation plan will be submitted to the Applicant for consideration and response with any desired modifications accompanied by supporting documentation.

In finalising the evaluation plan, the Product Evaluation Panel will take the response of the Applicant and road agency representatives into account. Its decision is final and binding on the Applicant.

Additional required testing shall be performed by a Registered Testing Authority. ARRB shall advise the Applicant of the cost of additional testing and the Applicant must pay such costs promptly. Testing will not commence until the Applicant has made payment for the testing.

The Product Evaluation Panel will prepare a written advice on whether to recommend the Product for a Field Performance Trial including generic requirements for the trial.

Where the Product Evaluation Panel considers a Product to have a strong historical track record of performance as well as promising laboratory results, interim registration may be granted. Under this arrangement, it is a requirement that the field trial be constructed within six months of the issuing of interim registration. At the completion of the field trial, Products with interim registration will be issued a Technical Opinion as for any other Product, with a favourable opinion moving the Product to the final register and an unfavourable opinion leading to the removal of the interim certification.

10. Field performance trial

FEE

The Field Performance Trial can commence once the Field Performance Trial Assessment fee has been paid. The amount of the fee depends on the particulars of the trial. An indicative fee is provided in the Schedule of Fees in Attachment B. The indicative fee estimate excludes the cost for any physical testing or construction.

SITE

The Field Performance Trial shall be conducted at a site where the conditions are representative of the typical intended application of the Product.

EVALUATION PLAN

An evaluation plan for the Field Performance Trial will be prepared by the Product Evaluation Panel and will be submitted to the Applicant for response with any desired modifications accompanied by supporting documentation.

In finalising the evaluation plan, the Product Evaluation Panel will take the response of the Applicant into account. Its decision is final and binding on the Applicant.

The evaluation of the performance of the Product at the trial will be monitored by the Product Evaluation Panel over an agreed period of time.

The evaluation will include observing the installation of the Product during the construction of the Field Performance Trial and periodic condition monitoring (e.g. visual inspections). Compliance with quality assurance procedures in the installation of the Product may also be assessed. Quality assurance data from the trial shall be submitted to the Product Evaluation Panel.

11. Technical opinion

When the Field Performance Trial is completed, the Product Evaluation Team will produce a draft Technical Opinion. The Technical Opinion shall comprise of four parts as follows:

- a. the name and address of the Applicant and the name and address of the manufacturer or originator of the Product
- b. a representation of the Product supplied by the Applicant with a description of the Product, its characteristics, reference to details or specifications for use, any precautions in handling, storage or use and benefits; where relevant, details of registered intellectual property rights in the Product and details of available licensing rights
- c. an objective technical evaluation based on laboratory and/or field measurements or tests relating to the performance of the Product. The report shall include (where applicable) details of: the standard test methods and standard specifications used in the assessment of the Product, the test conditions, the trials and inspections undertaken, the traffic loading and environmental conditions for which the Product was assessed, relevant details of local materials used, and a summary of other evidence examined
- d. a Technical Opinion of the suitability of the Product to transport infrastructure design, construction and maintenance activities including comments on likely applications and usage, as well as any known limitations of the Product and the conditions to which the Technical Opinion is subject.

The Technical Opinion shall be prepared in a format determined by ARRB and all evidence shall be referenced.

The draft Technical Opinion shall be submitted to the Applicant for comment and response. The Applicant must sign and return a copy of the draft Technical Opinion in acknowledgement of receipt. Any modifications requested by the Applicant are to be provided in a marked-up and signed copy of the draft Technical Report accompanied by supporting documentation.

In addition, the draft Technical Opinion shall be submitted to all participating road agency representatives. Authorities are encouraged to submit comments with respect to the draft Technical Opinion. Any proposed modifications are to be provided in a marked-up and signed copy of the draft Technical Opinion accompanied by supporting documentation. Road agency representatives are not required to return signed copies of the draft, however there will be a minimum period of 21 days allowed before publishing the final Technical Opinion to allow for comments.

The comments and any requests made by the Applicant and road agency representatives will be considered by the Product Evaluation Panel. The final format and text of the Technical Opinion shall be decided by the Product Evaluation Panel whose decision is final and binding on the Applicant.

The Applicant must sign and return a copy of the final Technical Opinion in acknowledgement of receipt.

12. Registration of technical opinion

Where the Technical Opinion is favourable to the Product, then, in such a case, following receipt of the signed Technical Opinion from the Applicant, ARRB shall approve the issue of a certificate of registration for the Technical Opinion. The certificate of registration authorises the publication and distribution of the Technical Opinion by the Applicant.

Where the Technical Opinion is not favourable to the Product, ARRB shall not approve a certificate of registration for the Technical Opinion, and its publication and distribution shall be restricted to persons within ARRB and the Product Evaluation Team. The Applicant must not indicate that the Technical Opinion has been approved for registration, or that a certificate of registration has been issued in respect of the Technical Opinion.

Note: If a Product does not receive a favourable Technical Opinion, the Applicant may resubmit the Application for further evaluation. To authorise further evaluation, the Applicant must prove to ARRB that change(s) made to the Product are significant, address the issues raised in the unfavourable Technical Opinion and better substantiate the claims made by the Applicant for the Product in the Application. ARRB may agree to further evaluation of the Product on such terms and conditions as it determines in its absolute discretion.

13. Disclaimer

ARRB and its employees or agents involved in assessing the data and in the preparation and publication of a Technical Opinion do not accept any contractual, tortious or other form of liability for its contents or for consequences arising from its use. Individuals or organisations using the information contained in the Technical Opinion should apply their own skill and judgement to any particular issue(s) which they are considering.

14. The register

The Register shall be maintained by ARRB and will be accessible on the ARRB website: www.arrb.com.au/TIPES.

The Register shall contain a copy of every current certificate of registration together with a schedule, listing all current certificates.

The schedule of current certificates shall be updated every three months, generally on the first (working) day of January, April, July and October of each year.

15. Deregistration

ARRB shall have authority to remove a Product from the Register if:

- a. changes to the Product are such that it no longer complies with applicable regulations
- b. there are changes to regulatory requirements for the Product
- c. the Product specifications have changed or support documentation has changed so as to render the documentation inapplicable
- d. changes to the Product are such that it no longer fits the description or composition of the registered Product
- e. ARRB is made aware of serious deficiencies in the performance of the Product over time.

ARRB shall have the authority to temporarily suspend the registration of a Product with immediate effect. Before a Product is permanently removed from the register, ARRB shall first provide written notification to the Applicant setting out the grounds on which it has come to that decision and the evidence on which it has relied, including where permitted, the source of the evidence, and giving the Applicant a period, reasonable in all of the circumstances, in which to respond.

The notice shall provide the Applicant with the opportunity to provide a written response with supporting evidence.

The notice shall also indicate if, in the reasonable opinion of ARRB, there are any actions that the Applicant can take to remedy the facts, matters or circumstances on which ARRB relies in deciding to deregister the Product.

ARRB will consider the response of the Applicant and any supporting documentation supplied and may seek additional response or material from the Applicant, or conduct further enquiries of its own, before making a final decision to deregister the Product.

The final decision, with reasons, will be provided in writing to the Applicant.

16. Dispute Resolution

- a. This clause 16 and clause 16A shall survive despite the fact that the Application has been completed or has been withdrawn or terminated for any reason.
- b. If a dispute arises in connection with this agreement, that is not a technical dispute, a party may give the other party a written notice specifying the dispute.

These may be used only to resolve the dispute.

To this end this document sets out the conditions that must be followed for organisations that wish to use the TIPES logo and or symbol(s).

2. Definitions

3. Introduction

TIPES is designed for the technical evaluation of products that fall outside the scope of established standards and specifications. The scheme is administered by ARRB on a full cost recovery basis through the fees paid by applicants. The scheme is a mechanism by which applicants can obtain an independent evaluation and an expert technical opinion of innovative products. This independent evaluation and expert technical opinion can be provided to various State and Territory road agencies to reduce the need for separate evaluations of an applicant's product for multiple agencies.

At the time of this agreement all Australian State and Territory road agencies mutually recognise TIPES and the applicant acknowledges and agrees that ARRB does not make any representation that endorsement of TIPES by any State and Territory road agency or body, or by any other government or semi-government agency or authority or by any other entity, or that evaluation and/or approval under TIPES of a product will gain acceptance of that product by any particular agency, authority or body or any particular market or purchaser agency.

4. Conditions for the use of the TIPES logo and symbol(s)
